INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE:

June 2022

This model is designed for clients who are prepared to invest with the aim of growing their capital modestly over the longer term by taking a low level of risk. The portfolio aims to be resilient and will invest in equities but this will typically represent no more than 35% of the model, what's more they will be selected for their low risk defensive nature. Fixed interest and alternative investments will constitute the rest of the portfolio, exposure to these asset classes will change over time and will also be selected for their defensive qualities. Currency exposure is achieved by tailoring the asset class selection towards US dollars.

Please note:

The chart above shows the performance of the International Global Conservative USD Model from 21 Mar 2018 when the model launched. Performance is illustrated inclusive of any changes to the model, any underlying fund charges, and Rowan Dartington management and administration fees. The Rowan Dartington portfolios are only held with the third party platform providers and the illustrated performance excludes the relevant platform providers custody charge which may be different depending on the platform.

Data from 1 month through to 5 years is cumulative (%). The cumulative periods are for the period stated, for example 3m, up until the most recent date as shown on the chart. The 12 month discrete performance periods are to the last month end.

For purposes of this factsheet, the portfolio's performance has been measured against the relevant Private Client Indices (PCI) produced by Asset Risk Consultants. The ARC PCIs are a set of risk based indices designed to assess the performance of diversified portfolios. The PCIs are based on actual client portfolios and performance is illustrated net of all ongoing charges.

All past performance information is on a bid to bid basis in the US Dollar.

The benchmark selected is the one most suitable for this model's asset allocation.

INVESTMENT OUTLOOK

International equity markets fell in June as fears rose that central bank tightening will trigger a recession. With the US labour market still looking healthy, the Federal Reserve is giving its full attention to bringing down inflation, enacting the largest single rate hike since 1994. Inflation remains at a 40-year high, so a series of further hikes is expected this year. Chinese equities continued to prove their value as a diversifier, bucking the trend to post strong gains as several pressures showed signs of easing. Lockdown restrictions in Beijing and Shanghai have been relaxed, allowing a rebound in industrial and retail activity; the non-manufacturing PMI indicated growth for the first time since February. Bitcoin, along with the wider cryptocurrency market, endured another torrid month, first the collapse of stable coin Terra Luna, then the freezing of transactions at a major DeFi loan company, and finally the bankruptcy of crypto hedge fund Three Arrows all compounded issues in the market.

GENERAL RISKS

The past performance is not a reliable guide to future performance. The value of shares and the income from them can fall as well as rise and investors may get back less than they originally invested. The tax treatment of investments depends on each individual's circumstances and is subject to changes in tax legislation. The sterling value of overseas investments, and the income from them, is subject to currency fluctuations. All estimates and prospective figures quoted in this publication are forecast and are not guaranteed.

SPECIFIC RISKS

Equity: This portfolio invests in equities. The value of equities can rise and fall quite sharply at times. Returns are not guaranteed and, whilst equities have tended to outperform over the long term, there have been periods when equities have fallen significantly in value over the short term.

Bond: This portfolio holds bonds issued by companies and governments. There is a chance that some of the companies or governments that issued these bonds will fail to make interest or capital payments, or other investors may believe the security of the government or company has declined, both of which would reduce the value of your investments. The values of bonds are also sensitive to changes in interest rates; for example, an increase in interest rates will usually cause a fall in the value of an investment in bonds.

Emerging Markets: This portfolio holds investments in less developed economies and invests in less mature stock markets, so its value may fluctuate more than a portfolio which invests in developed countries.

Property: This portfolio invests in property (i.e. land and buildings). Property can be difficult to sell in a short period, so you may not be able to sell or switch out of the investment when you want to due to the delay in acting upon the instruction. The value of property can fall as well as rise, particularly if there are more people trying to sell rather than buy, and is generally a matter of a valuers opinion until the property is sold.
